Read&Write also affords educators ways to provide their students with more accessible and appropriate materials to be able to truly differentiate instruction. A demonstration of how each is accessed and used along with time to practice will be sprinkled with some basic applications to help all different kinds of learners. Note: The 2-hour session includes only key tools, fewer strategies, and condensed time for practice and Q&A to fit the shorter time frame. Introduction to Read&Write for Google Chrome + Snapverter (K-12 or Higher Ed) This 3-hour session focuses on the functionality of the tools on all three toolbars (Docs, Web, PDF). Strategies presented can be used to teach the tools to students and support student acquisition of skills such as building vocabulary, reading comprehension, organizing information, summarizing and build automaticity of using online tools available as accommodations on many computerized standardized testing. This will provide the foundation for teachers to integrate Read&Write for Google Chrome into classroom instruction to meet each student’s unique needs. Note: The 2-hour session includes only key tools, fewer strategies, and condensed time for practice and Q&A to fit the shorter time frame. Snapverter shown upon request.
